Economic Impact Statement

Robins has $3.15 billion economic impact on Peach State

Robins Air Force Base contributes $3.15 billion to the Georgia economy, according to the installation's latest economic impact statement. That represents a $273 million growth over the previous year.

Published annually, the statement provides general information about the economic impact the installation has on the state of Georgia.

The report is also distributed to federal, state and local officials.

The fiscal 2018 statement sizes Robins' workforce at 23,226 – a figure that is made up of 14,284 appropriated fund civilians, 6,151 military members and 2,791 other employees.

The statement also says Robins doled out $1.45 billion in salaries. The largest chunk of that money – $1.07 billion – went to civilians working on base, while military members accounted for $363.3 million. Non-federal civilians and contract employees accounted for just more than $15.4 million.

Additionally, the base awarded $6.8 billion in contracts during fiscal 2018. Of that amount, the base awarded $607 million to Georgia firms, with the lion's share – $247.9 million – to firms in Houston County.

The top five contractors in terms of contracts awarded were Boeing, Northrup Grumman, Lockheed Martin, General Atomics and Raytheon.

ABOUT THE STATEMENT

The Economic Impact Statement provides information about the economic impact Robins Air Force Base has on the state of Georgia. It's made available to federal, state and local officials, business leaders and the general public. An installation's economic impact on the state is calculated by identifiable on- and off-base spending in the state from gross expenditures. All financial figures are rounded to the nearest dollar. This statement is for fiscal 2018. The report is based on data analyzed by the Air Force Sustainment Center Financial Management Operating Location at Robins.
